

MAJ. L. W. HERRON TO HEAD TROOP B

Veteran D. C. National Guard
Officer Selected for Cavalry
Command.

SEES A SPLENDID FUTURE

Maj. Leroy W. Herron, a veteran of the local National Guard, has been designated commander of Troop B, 1st Cavalry, N. G. D. C., or the "President's Own," subject to further orders from the War Department, according to Maj. Joseph C. Castner, adjutant general of the District of Columbia Militia. This means that Maj. Herron, if he passes the required tests, will be captain of the troop when it is accepted as a National Guard unit. Maj. Herron is to meet members of the troop at a smoker to be given at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night at the University Club.

"I think the new squadron will be the finest military organization in the country," said Maj. Herron today. "It is something the capital of the nation has needed for a long time, and the new squadron will more than make up for the city's previous delinquency in this matter."

Maj. Herron, who is advertising manager of The Star, has an enviable military record. He served three years in the High School Cadets, and later was a sergeant in the 1st Cavalry, 1st Division, which won the drill championship at Savannah, Ga., in 1896. He was with the team at San Antonio, Tex., the following year.

Active Service in Cuba.

Maj. Herron was present at the siege and surrender of Santiago during the Spanish-American war, as second lieutenant of Company G, 1st District of Columbia United States Volunteers. Later he was first lieutenant of Company B of the 2nd Battalion, and following that was battalion adjutant.

He was captain and regimental adjutant of the 1st Infantry, National Guard of Company G, 1st District of Columbia United States Volunteers, for six years. Shortly after he went back into the guard as a first lieutenant in the Ordnance Corps and was assigned as an aid to the commanding general. He later was promoted to major and inspector general, which post he held for six years, resigning January 1, 1913.

Maj. Herron emphatically stated today that the troop, as well as the entire squadron, is to have a military object foremost.

"I consider the social side necessary," he said, "but members of the troop, as well as others, are to understand that the troop is primarily a military organization. I am going to try to make Troop B the best in the squadron and help work toward making the squadron the best military organization in the country. With the class of men we have to start with, I am sure that this can be done."

Praised by Gen. Harvey.

Gen. William E. Harvey of the local National Guard spoke highly of Maj. Herron. "We need men like Maj. Herron to help bring the National Guard up to the high standard necessary to make it a success," he said. Maj. Castner also commended Maj. Herron.

The possibility of having Maj. Herron command one of the proposed troops was broached to Gen. Harvey and Maj. Castner several weeks ago by Capt. Edward W. Nix, who first was designated commander of Troop B, but who resigned because of pressure of work a short time ago. The plan met with the approval of these officers, and efforts were made to secure the designation of Maj. Herron. His designation as commander of Troop B has been received with enthusiasm by officers connected with the formation of the cavalry squadron and by members of the troop.

The troop is ready for muster into service, having seventy-three men who have satisfactorily passed the required tests. The troop is to have all facilities at Fort Myer placed at its disposal for mounted drills.

G. W. U. Musical Clubs.

Three musical clubs have organized for the season at George Washington University. A tour of the eastern states toward the end of the year is planned. Such a tour has been contemplated for several years. The University orchestra is holding weekly rehearsals. A brass band has been organized for the primary purpose of supporting the foot ball team at the game with Georgetown University on Thanksgiving Day.

The Mandolin Club rapidly is growing. Many of the club students at the university play the ukelele, and they are to be recruited.
